SPRING/SUMMER 2009

THE WOMAN WHO COOKED HER HUSBAND 16 - 21 February by Debbie Isitt

Kenneth and Hilary have been married for 19 years, but as middle age encroaches Kenneth finds himself in the arms of Laura. Only one little problem... Laura can't cook...

IT RUNS IN THE FAMILY 9 - 14 March by Ray Cooney

On the eve of an important address where he needs to show he is an exemplary citizen, Dr Mortimore discovers the unwelcome news that he has an 18-year-old son from his relationship with Nurse Tate. He tries to cover it up in a hilarious Cooney style farce.

THE HOUND OF THE BASKERVILLES 20 - 25 April Adapted to the stage by F. Andrew Leslie. From the novel by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle

When Dr Mortimer visits the Baker Street chambers of Sherlock Holmes and Dr Watson to ask for their help little do they realise the horrors that await them on the dangerous and desolate Devonshire moors.

MISCONCEPTION 11 - 16 May by David Lewis

Biology lecturer Matthew and his wife Linda have been attempting to conceive a baby for years. As a last resort, they enlist the help of a friend for a bit of DIY artificial insemination, leading to unexpected and often hilarious results.

THE ODD COUPLE (female version) 1 - 6 June by Neil Simon

A comedy set in 1980s New York. Florence has just broken up with her husband. Her annoying habits drive everyone crazy, even her best friends. When she moves in to share Olive's apartment, both discover that their friendship is tested to breaking point!

THE RAILWAY CHILDREN 29 June - 4 July by Peter Quarmain

Based on the book by E. Nesbit. Music by John Puddick. Lyrics by Iris Grover

Mystery and adventure comes vividly to life in this stage adaptation of E. Nesbit's classic novel centred around three children and their new life in the heart of the sleepy Kent countryside.
